

Alex Moresco 1 AUDIO

Mon, 5/4 12:25PM 2:04

SUMMARY KEYWORDS

lyme, friends, lyme disease, peer, utilize, borne disease, instagram, tick, early 20s, tick borne illness, warrior, happy, impacted, platform, normalcy, ali, connect, alliance, battling, hackathon

SPEAKERS

Alex Moresco

Alex Moresco 00:03

Hi friends, for those of you that I have not had the chance to meet yet, I am Ali Moresco and I am a fellow Lyme warrior and advocate that has had the privilege to raise over $350,000 for Global Lyme Alliance with 100% of that going to tick borne disease research and advocacy. So I was so thrilled when Matt and Rich asked me to join their Lyme Hackathon and share something that has made my life better in relation to battling tick borne illness. And I would have to say that one of the things that has impacted me the most is finding the Lyme community. So I would highly recommend utilizing Global Lyme Alliance as either a peer to peer mentor platform, or just searching on like Instagram or your favorite social media about, to see like where Lyme warriors are in your area, and connecting with them. And I feel like it gives us a sense of normalcy. And I know that like I'm 27. And when I got sick, I was in my early 20s. And I lost a lot of friends because they just didn't understand what I was going through. But as cliché as it sounds, I really do feel like I've found my lifelong best friends through Lyme disease world. And I think that we can all do that, and have that little sliver of joy back in our lives. So utilize social media, utilize peer to peer mentorship platforms, and get back out there and make a new friend and I'm always happy to be your friend. So you can send me a message anytime on Instagram and I'm always happy to connect. So thank you to Tick Boot Camp for putting on the Lyme Hackathon and happy Lyme Awareness Month everyone and I will talk to you later. Bye